Landmarks you shouldn't miss!

Eye-opening findings in Sanxingdui

My trip to Sanxingdui was great! In the Sanxingdui Museum, I saw strange masks, the "big guy" statue and a life-size "fruit" tree.

Some thought people from Sanxingdui were aliens. But it's not true. Maybe they ate hotpot three thousand years ago, just like we do today.

(Chen Li, history teacher)

The pearl of Hangzhou

I visited the West Lake last autumn. On the first night, my friends and I watched the moon rising from a boat on the lake. We ate mooncakes and drank Longjing tea. The next day we walked along the lake. It was such a nice trip.

A magical island

On Easter Island, I saw huge statues called Moai. The Rapa Nui people made them hundreds of years ago. I loved the food on the island. The locals cooked fresh food on rocks! We had fish. It was so delicious!

(Lucy, 10-year-old student)

An unusual "table"

I climbed many mountains on my trips, but Table Mountain in South Africa was a special one. Its name comes from its top. It is flat like a table! But it only looks flat from one side.

I went to the top by cable car. The first cable car opened in 1929. The view was so amazing!

Old man: No. I will stay alone in the village and face Nian.

Scene 2

Narrator: The old man stayed in the village. Then, at midnight, the monster came.

Nian: What is that red paper on the doors and windows? I hate the colour red! Why are the windows so bright? I hate bright lights!

Old man: Aha! He looks worried.

Our winner

The winner is my good friend, Chen Jie. She's a 12-year-old girl from Class One, Grade Six.

Manage money well

Chen Jie has her special way to manage money. She writes a spending plan every Sunday. Every week, she gets her pocket money. She also gets some money from selling old things. She keeps her money in three money jars. Jar 1 is money to spend. She uses this money to buy goods, like books. She also uses it to pay for services, like haircuts. Jar 2 is money to share. She uses this money to buy gifts, for example, birthday gifts for her family. Jar 3 is money to save. Chen Jie puts money there to save up for big things, like a new bike. She really manages her money well!

Chinese astronauts are called taikonauts. Their life in space is special.

The taikonauts get up early in the morning. But getting ready in space is different. They can't use water to wash their faces. So taikonauts have to use a wet cloth. They brush their teeth with a special toothpaste and have to "eat" it!

Each day the taikonauts are very busy. They do a lot of work. For example, they grow vegetables and rice. Sometimes, they also give classes to children and answer questions about space.

It is hard work. The taikonauts must stay healthy. Every afternoon they do exercise to keep healthy and strong. But their job is also very interesting. They can see the sunrise and sunset 16 times a day. The view is amazing! There is no other job like this one.
